DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed on 03/11/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues on page 5 lines 1-5 of Remarks that "In fact, by virtue of giving the customer the choice to view movies at times when content providers offer pricing specials or incentives, playback must be enabled prior to that time (or else there would be no choice). For at least these reasons, Applicants assert that Hunter is not prior art to claim 148 or any of the corresponding dependent claims".

The Examiner respectfully disagrees with applicant's arguments. Hunter teaches receiving media content and choosing not to playback the content (indicates the playback is not enabled by the user), until a special discount or incentive during a day or a week (at a predetermined time after receiving the media content) to playback the media content (only enabled at that time when user receive a discount).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 148-157 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hunter et al (US 2002/0056118).

Claim 148, Hunter discloses a method of implementing a media content delivery and playback scheme (Para 0012); the method comprising the steps of:

receiving media content which is delivered asynchronously via a communication channel (Para 0012); and enabling the playback of said media content at a predetermined time after said step of receiving media content, wherein said playback is only enabled after a predetermined time after said step of receiving media content (Para 13 lines 38-42; said playback is only enabled when get special discount on daily or weekly basis after media content is received and recorded).

Claim 149, Hunter further discloses the step of detecting the media content at the predetermined time (Para 121 – Para 122).

Claim 150, Hunter further discloses the step of providing a notification of receipt of the media content (Para 139).

Claim 151, Hunter further discloses said playback is enabled only after a predetermined time after the receipt of said media content (Para 117; playback is enabled only at night after receipt of said media content at afternoon).

Claim 152, Hunter further discloses asynchronous delivery of said media content is controlled by a first processor of a first device (FIG.23, element 600; set-top box receives and delivers the content) and said playback of said media content is controlled by a second processor of a second device (element 610; for playback control).

Art Unit: 2623

Claim 153, Hunter further discloses said playback of media content is enabled in said second device at a first predetermined time after said delivery of said media content (FIG.23; user controls playback of content at night, a first predetermined time).

Claim 154, Hunter further discloses said media content may not be detectable by a user of said second device until said predetermined time (Para 117 lines 5-13; the movie is not available until night indicates content may not be detectable by a user of said second device until said predetermined time).

Claim 155, Hunter further discloses said delivery of said media content from said first device to said second device is controlled in accordance with a digital rights management scheme (Para 193 – Para 200).

Claim 156, Hunter further discloses said first device and said second device are coupled by said communication channel (FIG.23, Digital Data between elements 600 and 610).

Claim 157, Hunter further discloses said first device and said second device are implemented in computer systems (FIG.23, elements 600 and 610 are implemented in computer systems).
